Gifted at being	an optimist, finding positive in situations
She has a natural ability	at being guiding and ethical. Bringing light, integrity, inspiration, and wisdom to others. Gifted with the desire to hold up the lantern of truth so that others can find their way. Has a higher purpose that might involve some form of sacrifice, in order to live by the highest ideals. Outstanding, at something specific, but might get other areas of life out of balance.
Archetypes of Challenges	Stubbornness, rigidity, words
Lessons and challenges	'revolve around the phrase: 'you should have done this for me', or 'someone ought to fix that', or 'I did this for you, so you should do that for me because that's fair and balanced.'
What areas of life will require some effort to master	learning not to have distorted expectations of others in relationships. Having high ideals, that never seems to materialize in reality, drives relationships into trouble. Seeking sublime experiences in relationships and getting offput by the earthly, human side of things. Needs to realize that higher level vibrations can be activated from the inside, perhaps in spiritual practice, and that it's not fair to expect his partner to deliver that for her.
To help her	encourage her to conquer fear and recognize that sometimes she just has to step up to the plate and get things done herself. Boost self-esteem and confidence.
Key to resolving challenges	needs to master completion and specialization.
When feeling out of balance	she should nurture herself. Have a good meal. Watch a comedy film. Get to feeling good. When out of balance, will get some bad habits or behaviors going that are either a subtle or not so subtle form of self-destruction.
